Local Federal Election Candidates Participate in Forum on Environmental Issues

CPAWS is Asking for Your Input on Key Questions to the Candidates

As members and associates of WTAY, your ties to and reliance on our environment provides you with first-hand knowledge on changes that are occurring now and what a lack of determination on the part of Federal politicians will result in. Please take a few moments to think about what environmental questions you would ask if the Leader of each Federal Party was standing in front of you. CPAWS is asking for your assistance and providing an opportunity for your input. If you have time on October 6, you can also attend the forum in person.

Kelly Fraser
WTAY Manager

From CPAWS

Hello,

We (CPAWS) are writing to request your input for our All-Candidates Environment Forum. At this upcoming event, federal candidates will be responding to 4 priority questions from organizations concerned about the environment, followed by questions from the general public. All four candidates will have an opportunity to respond to each question asked during the event. We are currently setting out to identify which 4 priority questions your organization would like to hear raised. We would love to hear from you on this.

If you provide us with the questions your group would like to raise (ranked in order of preference) by Sept 30th, we will combine them with the feedback we've received to generate those top 4 questions. These questions will be posed by our moderator, Tara McCarthy, during the first half of the forum. Tara will then invite questions from the public during the second half of the evening.

The Environment Forum will be happening Tuesday October 6th from 7-9 pm at the Old Fire Hall. All are welcome. We hope to see you there!
